

Based on tradition, built for the future

- "Black" represents the traditions of Sumi ink making, where Kuretake originated
- "Yellow and Purple" represent the innovation of brushes, pens and paints to support artistic lifestyles in all forms
- Use of circle, square and triangle represent the creation of arts and crafts

The origin of

- "ZIG" comes from the word 'zigzag', a concept based on the fluid, back and forth motion which comes with writing and calligraphy, and was the name used for a water-based, plastic core pen that was released in 1977, the 75th anniversary of Kuretake.
- After export sales were suspended in 1971, this product was used to reinvigorate sales overseas, and ZIG was officially adopted as the overseas brand name of Kuretake.
- Kuretake ZIG products are made in Japan and are sold in over 80 countries world-wide.

Many unique uses and methods for application

Hold the pen at an angle to color wide areas.

Hold the pen straight up to draw a thin line.

Wet with a water brush to shade.

A whole spectrum of gradations with a single pen.

Wet the tip of the pen slightly with water to produce multiple gradations of one color.

Mixing colors

First apply one color, and before it dries add another color over it to create a color gradation.

Apply a darker-colored ink directly to the tip of a light-colored pen to create a gradation when you draw with the light color.

Let's try to add colors to sketches

Add texture and depth to a gentle stream.

First apply a shade of blue to the water at the farthest point of the stream. Use a water brush to blend the blue into the foreground.

Dotting

For finer details, tap the drawing surface with the tip of the pen.
